

SLOVAK GAS COMPANY – STAIRCASE - SLOVAKIA

Slovenský plynárenský priemysel, a.s. (abbr. SPP; Slovak: literally "Slovak Gas Industry") is a Slovak key natural gas supplier. It builds on almost 160 years of tradition in the Slovak gas industry. Since 2012, the company has been operating successfully on the electricity market as well. This makes SPP the largest energy supplier on the Slovak market, where it supplies to all customer segments in all regions. The company has headquarters in Bratislava in the Ružinov borough.

In October 2012, an external steel staircase has been protected with a ZINGA unique system.

The fire escape was originally hot-dipped and was reloaded with ZINGA to give it renewed galvanic corrosion protection.
